

THE IMMUNE NICKED ON HARDING'S TRIP

Eddie Jackson, Noted Dip, With Plans for Cleanup, Lands in Jail.

PLEATS TALE TO PAIS

Released on Writ of Hocus Pocus—Saved Will Hayes's Bank Roll.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD. CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Though a cat may look at a king, "Eddie the Immune" Jackson, Chicago's pickpocket plenipotentiary, has discovered that the privilege does not extend to travelling in the party of President-elect Harding on the present post-election trip to Point Isabel, Texas.

Eddie felt quite put out after several days spent in a St. Louis cell, whither he went after being spotted by secret service agents while working his way through the throng that turned out last week in the Missouri city to greet the next President.

Time has been hanging heavy on the hands of the campaign and the close of the campaign and the disposal of all but one case against him in the local courts. The eel-like Eddie, whose success in escaping the penitentiary or house of correction through twenty-six years of artful dodging won him his sobriquet, is a staunch Democrat of the Barney Greengard school and therefore dissatisfied with the late landslide.

Eddie Tells of Trip to Jail.

To-day Eddie returned to his West Side haunts and bleated to the boys in Butch Carroll's the sad story of the hand that shook the hand of Harding and the resultant trip to jail. Albeit Eddie for the first time in years narrowly escaped missing the Christmas crowds in Chicago cars, from which he has looted a generous living even in lean years.

When the Harding special train, loaded with newspaper correspondents, political and personal friends of the President-elect, as well as Senator Harding and his Secret Service guard, reached St. Louis, Eddie, whose real name is Oscar Jacobson, was among those present. In fact, he was on the train, wearing a railroad special agent's badge.

In the station "The Immune" bobbed up beside President-elect Harding and was in the act of shaking hands with the first citizen of the country when a Secret Service man formerly assigned to Chicago blinked rapidly, then plucked Jacobson out of the crowd before the President-elect missed any of the 411 electoral votes presented to him at a week ago Tuesday. An understudy of Eddie faded into thin air as Jacobson was tossed into a patrol wagon protesting vehemently, and the Harding special train pulled out for Point Isabel. Following his established custom the immune one yielded nothing to a search at Police Headquarters, and was locked up as a prisoner "held for the Government" for several days, though the Secret Service failed to prosecute. He was finally released on a "writ of hocus pocus," to quote Mr. Jacobson himself, and hastened back to Chicago to do his Christmas shopping early.

Is Taken for Will Hayes.

"I was all set for a bumper trip when I was spotted," mournfully declared Eddie to-night. "We had made two stops on the way to St. Louis, and I was getting in the touch fine shaking hands with the crowd. I was taken for Chairman Will Hayes several times. "Let me tell you a funny one about Hayes. Just before the election I was busy with a plant trailing both candidates. We were both active one day down in Marion. There was a large reception on, with President-elect Harding as the big card. I was working a worried member of the reception committee when I spotted my pal crowding Will Hayes. I had to pass up my pickin's to signal my stall to lay off Bill Hayes. I would not stand for any rough stuff being pulled on Bill Hayes. He is some swell guy. "Pretty tough to have lost out on the trip with Senator Harding," continued Eddie. "He certainly does draw the crowds. I was working nice and clean. Nobody made a holler. "These secret service dicks are so different from the regular coppers. They never forget a guy with a past."

THOMPSON BEHIND NORMAL DRY VOTE

Mrs. Boole, Prohibition Candidate for U. S. Senator, Ahead of Party Strength.

Senator George F. Thompson, Prohibition candidate for Governor, ran behind the normal Prohibition vote in the State, while Mrs. Ella A. Boole, candidate of the party for United States Senate, polled many more votes than the party usually gets.

These and other interesting facts are developed in a study of the up-State returns received by George A. Glynn, chairman of the Republican State Committee. Twenty-nine counties outside the greater city have completed their official canvass. Every member of the Republican State ticket ran close together with the exception of United States Senator James W. Wadsworth.

In the twenty-nine counties the vote was: Miller, 466,932; Wood, 472,156; Lyons, 469,183; Wendell, 471,802; Marshall, 474,625; Newton, 474,912; Williams, 475,651; Wadsworth, 424,074. Exclusive of Wadsworth the difference between the high and low man in the group was approximately 5,000 votes. The same counties gave Smith 246,528, a margin for Miller of 206,270.

For United States Senator in these counties Walker got 139,437 and Mrs. Boole 73,116, a relative plurality for Wadsworth of 216,625 greater than that of Miller. The up State cities showed that Smith ran well there, as he did in New York city, which he carried by over 300,000.

On the basis of the vote from the twenty-nine counties it is estimated that the total up-State vote for Mrs. Boole was 132,000, which, added to something over 15,000 which she received in this city, would make her total vote slightly in excess of 150,000. Calculating in the same way, Thompson got about 25,000 votes up State, which added to his 2,500 odd here, would give him a total vote of fewer than 34,000.

Judge Miller's largest plurality was in Monroe county, 26,570. There, too, Mrs. Boole got her greatest county vote, 9,945. In twenty-seven counties the Socialist vote was 21,083 and that of Malone, Farmer-Labor candidate for Governor, was 2,483, of which 824 votes were in Monroe county.

The Prohibition vote in twenty-four counties on Thompson for Governor and Boole for Senator follows:

To Rev. Dr. HERBERT SHIPMAN

Reverend Church of the Heavenly Rest, Fifth Avenue and 43rd Street. PROFITEERS were the subject of your address to the Columbia University Post No. 400, American Legion, last Sunday. You said you say about these ancient and dishonorable harpies in eloquent verse. The N. Y. World published them on its front page on Monday. We admire your verse and your spirit. They show that you are about your Master's business, rather than your own. It does not usually pay a Y. M. C. A. to do this sort of thing. It pays better to preach FERNET and LITTLE BREADS SINGING IN THE AIR, than to wield the scourge against the pew-wrenching money-changers in the Temple.

Our particular interest in this matter is that we have just published "CAIUS GRACCHUS," by Odlin Gregory. Gracchus objected to PROFITEERS. This cost him his life.

Your modesty may prevent your re-reading your verses about PROFITEERS to your congregation on Sunday. BUT you can read to them the burning words on that subject on pp. 99-101 of "CAIUS GRACCHUS." It has been said of these lines that they will get under the thickest epidermis, and HURT! Try them out. You can get the book at any bookseller's, or from us for $2.
